Whiskey Making Process

Preparation

Various grains are ground and cooked. Barley is malted, a process of soaking the barley and spreading it for about three weeks, allowing it to sprout, and drying and heating it.

Mashing

The cooked grain and malted barley are added to warm water, which converts into a liquid known as mash.

Fermenting

The mash is added to a fermentation tank along with yeast. The yeast converts the sugar to alcohol. After 3-4 days the resulting liquid is about 10% alcoholic and is known as distiller's beer or wash.

Distilling

The wash is heated to the point where the alcohol turns to vapour, but the water remains liquid. The alcohol is collected in a second container. This process is repeated to produce "high wine" or "new whiskey".

Aging

Water is added to the high wine, which is aged in wooden barrels, usually made from charred white oak. Here the whiskey ages at least three to four years. Some are aged up to ten or fifteen years.

Sommelier Selection

Dunvilles, 12 Year Old

26

The Dunvilles Brand has been brought back to life through the Echlinville Distillery in Co Down. This representation is a 12 year old Single Malt finished in exceptional Pedro Ximenez sherry casks. The nose is driven by fruit and spice, with toasted wood and vanilla evident from the initial bourbon cask maturation, however the sherry influence is there. The palate is robust and spicy with a thick array of citrus and nutmeg notes.

JJ Corry Dromoland Blend

30

Milk chocolate and fudge richness with a freshness of stewed apple, red berries with a clove and cinnamon spice. Aged in Virgin Irish Oak to give a fresh apple finish.

Bushmills Millenium

45

Very limited edition Bushmills. Notes of orange and fresh grapefruit with long oaky finish

Kilbeggan is situated on the River Brosna, in the south of County Westmeath.

It lies south of Lough Ennell, and Castletown Geoghegan, north of the boundary with County Offaly, about 9 kilometres north of Tullamore.

Kilbeggan is surrounded by the gently rolling Esker Riada, the linear sand hills that stretch across the Irish midlands, which were left by retreating glaciers at the end of the last ice age. It is famous as the location of the oldest recorded incidence of a tornado in Europe.

The distillery was established in 1757, and a copy of its original licence can be seen in the museum on the premises.

The distillery was sold in 1843 by Matthias McManus to John Locke, who made it a family business. In the 19th century, there were many distilleries throughout Ireland, and whisky making was a good business to be in.

100 years later, the distillery had passed down through the family, and was being run by John Locke's granddaughters, Mary Evelyn Locke and Florence Emily Locke.

Suffering losses and after succumbing to a fraud and subsequent political scandal, the Locke family's distillery eventually ceased its whiskey production in 1954.

The buildings gradually fell into disrepair until, in the 1980s, it was restored, by the local Kilbeggan community, who take pride in the building's prominent place in the village, and its heritage. The distillery is now owned by Beam Suntory, an American spirits manufacturer.

Tyrconnell Sherry*15

Tyrconnell is the name given to Kilbeggan Distilling Company's unpeated single malt whiskey. This is a vibrant and fresh tasting single malt with the exuberance of youthful apple and pear fruit combined with some creamy vanilla and gently spicy oak.

Tyrconnell Port15

Sweet and fruity, with flavours of dried fruits, roasted nuts, caramel and toffee. Quite light and soft.

Tyrconnell Madeira15

Smooth, rich and extremely well rounded. Plenty of soft malty flavours, a touch of spice and dried fruit nuances. Very well balanced, one of the most successful Madeira finishes we have tried.

Connemara Peated	10
-------------------------	-----------

Enticingly smoky with some pear and apple followed by some subtle dried fruit aromas. Silky smooth with a honey sweet start, followed by malt and fruit flavours giving way to full bodied peat.

Connemara 12 Year Old	15
------------------------------	-----------

Initially sweet and fruity but with some very welcome smoke. Flavours of 3pears, apples, vanilla cream and a touch of gingery, spicy oak. Quite light in body with some typical Bourbon cask character.

Connemara Bog Oak Peated Whiskey	85
---	-----------

Connemara bog oak delivers a unique earthiness with added spice & burnt notes leading to a near chocolate sweetness that beautifully compliments the existing character of the whiskey.

The home of Bushmills Whiskey is the village of Bushmills in unique North Antrim, Northern Ireland, and it is recognised as the gateway to the world famous Giants Causeway one of the wonders of the world.

Bushmills was formerly known as Port caman, it developed with water powered industries of the 1600's to become one of the main centre's for corn, flax, spade and whiskey production.

Bushmills benefited greatly from the influx of visitors and was well placed to benefit from the growing fame of the Giants Causeway Bushmills has become known worldwide for the famous old Bushmills Distillery and is one of the most interesting distilleries to visit in an area with history, tradition and sights to astound.

The Victorian architecture of the Distillery dates from 1885 when it was rebuilt after a fire.

It is located on the on the banks of St. Columb's Rill and reputed to be the oldest licensed Distillery in the world - being given legal status in 1608 when King James 1st granted a license to local landowner Sir Thomas Phillips.

The company itself was founded in 1783 and in 1800's we find records of the S.S. Bushmills, a large sailing ship own by the company which transported whiskey across the Atlantic. During its existence the distillery has changed ownership many times, at one time it was owned by the Boyd family who were responsible for promoting the product worldwide, in 1972 it became part of the Irish Distillers Group who themselves were taken over by Pernod Ricard, the distillery is now owned by Diageo.

Bushmills Black Bush

7.5

Black Bush is classed as the 'deluxe' blend from Bushmills and it has a lot of loyal fans across the world. Compared to the standard blend this has more depth, richness but also some woody hints.

Bushmills 10 Year Old Single Malt

10.5

This has been the standard single malt release from Bushmills for many years and is drawn from triple distilled malt that is aged in both bourbon and sherry casks. It has a creamy, yet light mouth feel along with some crisp barley, warm vanilla and gentle pepper and spice flavour.

Bushmills 16 Year Old Single Malt

The 16 year old Bushmills builds on the soft, smoothness of the 10 year old and adds some very nice fruity characters. The port wood adds some delicious flavours of red fruits, some sweetness and hints of candy and chocolate.

Bushmills 21 Year Old Single Malt

35

The 21 year old Bushmills is remarkably fresh and lively tasting given its advanced years. Like the rest of the single malts from Bushmills this is initially aged in both bourbon and sherry casks. A top notch whiskey that is dangerously easy to drink.

Bushmills Causeway Collection 2011 Sauterne Cask 32

Inspired by the Giant's Causeway this single malt has been matured for 7 years in bourbon and oloroso cask, it is then finished for a further 2 years in a Sauterne wine cask. This Bordeaux wine cask brings an abundance of delicate summer fruit flavours and fresh grapes.

Bushmills Causeway Collection 2010 Cognac Cask 34

The limited edition 2010 Cognac cask results in a single malt bursting with ripe pear and buttery honeycomb with undertones of cinnamon and leathery black pepper.

Bushmills Causeway Collection 2008 Jupille Cask 35

Aged in Jupille Cask, a French oak barrel produced from the Jupille Forest near the Loire Valley. Notes of black pepper and dark fruit with subtle pear and spices

Bushmills Causeway Collection 1999 New American Oak Cask 105

Filled on the 14th of September 1999, this beautiful single malt has spent 23 years maturing in a Kentucky American oak cask. The decades have amplified the rich oak notes adding layers of caramelised fruit and cinnamon, leaving a deep sweet velvety vanilla finish.

Situated in Co. Cork, Midleton distillery is responsible for the majority of all Irish Whiskey produced in Ireland today. It is the Irish Distillers Group main distillery.

The distillery started life as a woollen manufacturing business in 1796. By the 1820s the buildings were lying empty until three brothers James, Daniel and Jeremiah Murphy decided that the perfect purpose for these fine buildings should be the manufacture of whiskey. Initially run as a family concern calling themselves James Murphy & Co they ultimately merged with several other distillers in the area to become known as the Cork Distillers Company.

The Midleton Distillery had many advantages being situated in the countryside not least of which was the low operating overheads as opposed to those experienced by the City Distillers. A greater advantage was perhaps that Midleton boasted not only Ireland's but the world's largest still with a capacity of 31,618 gallons.

In 1966, before investment firms such as Fisher Investments UK would overtly invest in distilleries, the Cork Distillers Company joined forces with their city rivals John Jameson and John Powers. Together, these three formed what is now known as the Irish Distillers Group. The newly formed Irish Distillers Group decided that a new all-purpose distillery would be built and with it room for expansion. Midleton was chosen as the site.

The opening of the new Midleton Distillery was impressive, whilst the new distillery was being built the workers continued their craft in the old distillery buildings. Then one evening in 1975 they finished work as usual and left the old distillery. The following morning they returned not to where they had left the night before but to the new distillery a few hundred yards away, from here they carried on their craft as if nothing had happened.

JAMESON®

Jameson Crested

8.5

Delicate sherry undertones, toasted wood and honey soaked fruits. The good trusty long serving work horse for the Middleton range.

Jameson Select Reserve Black Barrel

11.5

Spicy, oily and floral. Flavours of Christmas Pudding backed with a freshness of tropical fruit. If you are a Bourbon drinker you will be very happy to sit back and drink this, also works very well for Old Fashions and Manhattans.

Jameson 18 Year Old 40% New Label

42

Wonderfully mellow and smooth, a mouthful of complex flavours –toffee, spice, hints of wood and leather, gentle sherry nuttiness and vanilla. Finish: A long lingering finish carries the theme of the wood, spice and toffee right through to the end.

Jameson 18 Year Old Bow Street Cask Strength

45

Wonderfully mellow and smooth, a mouthful of complex flavours –toffee, spice, hints of wood and leather, gentle sherry nuttiness and vanilla. Finish: A long lingering finish carries the theme of the wood, spice and toffee right through to the end.

Midleton Distillery

Green Spot Single Pot Still

12.5

Green Spot is a 100% pure pot still whiskey that can trace its roots to the early 1900's. The current bottling is made at Midleton from 7-9 year old pure pot still whiskey, with 25% coming from sherry casks and a medium weight pot still content. Made in very limited quantities it is highly prized by both drinkers and whiskey writer.

Green Spot Leoville Barton

Immediately fruity and fresh. More of those red apple, orange and lemon characters but there are also touches of boiled sweets, barley sugar and citrus peel. Nice evolution in the mouth with it becoming spicy, dry and slightly tannic towards the end.

Yellow Spot Whiskey

Rather than being simply a finished whiskey, Yellow Spot is special in that it contains single pot still whiskey that has been matured for a full 12 year period in three oak cask types: American bourbon barrels, Spanish sherry butts and uniquely, Spanish Malaga casks.

Red Spot Whiskey

24

Full of fresh red berries and clove and black pepper spice, both on the nose and the palate. It follows with a dry tannin backbone. An excellent whiskey that will wake up the palate and a great re- introduction Into the world after a 50 year hiatus.

Redbreast 12 Year Old Single Pot Still

14.5

Red breast was a brand name for Jameson's pure Irish pot still, bottled in bond by Gilbey's. First made in 1939 with Jameson filling Gilbey's own casks. Two sherry casks were used for each bourbon cask. Rich raisin fruit with a lush sweetness. Very popular with season whiskey drinker.

Redbreast Lustau

Rich infusion of dark fruits, prunes, dates& figs with liquorice, marzipan, toasted oak and Redbreast spices. Initially matured in traditional bourbon & sherry casks for a period of 9-12 years. It is then finished for one extra year in first fill sherry butts which have been seasoned with oloroso sherry from the prestigious Bodegas Lustau in Jerez, Spain.

Redbreast 15 Year Old Single Pot Still

24

This is one of the richest, and heaviest Irish pot still whiskeys. The bottling is vatted from whiskeys aged between 15 and 19 years old and the cask selection is from 1st fill bourbon and sherry barrels.

Redbreast 12 Year Old Cask Strength

21

Forceful, fresh and crisp but with a rich mouthfeel. Almost like an unpeated Scottish coastal malt in character. Tropical fruits, exotic spice and vanilla flavours. Very complex. Becomes spicier with time.

Redbreast 21 Year Old Single Pot Still (currently unavailable.)

42

This is drawn from similar casks types to the 12 and 15 year old bottlings but also from some refill casks. It is packed with rich, spiced fruit flavours along with some surprisingly fresh barley and tropical fruit flavours.

POWERS

ESTD

1791

IRISH WHISKEY

Powers 3 Swallow

12

Barley sugar sweets, acacia honey, sweet cinnamon spices, candied orange peel and toasty oak and raisin soaked fruit with a freshness of tropical fruits. A revival of the old style of Powers once made at the old distillery off Thomas Street in Dublin.

Powers Signature Release Single Pot Still

14

One of the best value single pot still whiskeys on the market. This is made from a robust style of single pot still spirit and predominantly matured in refill ex-bourbon barrels.

Powers Johns Lane Reserve 12 Year Old

It is comprised mostly of a robust, heavy pot still spirit and is predominantly aged in ex-Bourbon casks with a little sherry cask ageing. Intended to faithfully recreated the old style of whiskey once made in Dublin, it has been a big success.

Since 1782 the Teeling Family has been crafting Irish whiskey and it all began with Walter. In 1782 Walter Teeling set up a craft distillery on Marrowbone Lane in the Liberties area of Dublin commencing a 230 year tradition of distilling for the Teeling family. From Walter Teeling to the latest generation of Teelings in Jack and Stephen who are carrying on the family's legacy and forging a bright new future for distilling in Dublin and for Irish whiskey.

The Teeling Whiskey Distillery is the first new distillery in Dublin in over 125 years and will bring the craft of distilling back into the very heart of Dublin city centre. Our new distillery is right back where we started in 1782 and only a stone's throw away from where Walter Teeling's old distillery was. Located in an ancient market square called Newmarket, an area long associated with brewing and distilling, our new distillery is a three copper pot still operation reviving the traditional style of Dublin whiskey distillation. Our philosophy is that while we are respectful to the rich provenance and heritage of Irish whiskey, as a new generation of Irish whiskey makers we are confident to forge a new future for Dublin and Irish whiskey. Our distillery will be open for visitors in 2015 allowing you to come see, smell and experience a real operational distillery and interact with the people making Teeling whiskey.

Teeling Single Grain, Red Wine

Red berry fruit with a spiciness from the Cabernet barrel ageing. A burst of tannin from the barrel ageing process leaves a dry warm finish.

Teeling Single Malt

10

A newly released single malt that is drawn from various ages of whisky from a single Irish distillery. The oldest malt in this dates back to 1991 and the various components have been matured in different types of barrels including Sherry, Port, Madeira, White Burgundy and Cabernet Sauvignon.

KNAPPOGUE CASTLE

SINGLE MALT IRISH WHISKEY

In the 1960s, Mark Edwin Andrews, an American with strong ties to Ireland, began buying casks of fine pot still whiskey from the top distilleries in Ireland. He aged them and bottled them under the Knappogue Castle label, named after the castle in Ireland that he owned.

Knappogue Castle 1951, the last of Mr. Andrews' whiskey that remains available, is now the oldest and rarest Irish whiskey in the world. Knappogue 1951 is a traditional pot still whiskey which means it is made from both malted and unmalted barley. It was triple distilled in 1951 at the famous B. Daly Distillery in Tullamore and was aged to perfection in sherry casks for 36 years.

Knappogue Castle ®12 Year Old continues an Andrews family tradition of exceptional quality Irish single malts.

WALSH

WHISKEY

The building - designed by architect, James O'Donoghue - showcases its purpose by displaying the copper pots behind a huge glass wall, and by making a feature of the column stills and their height, wrapping them in a tower capped off in glass and copper.

Although the River Barrow flows right behind the distillery, water is so important to the whiskey-making process that it has been given added prominence in the form of two ponds in front of the building. The distillery's cooling water is drawn from the river and circulates through these ponds.

Distillery capacity is two million litres of pure alcohol a year, which translates into 500,000 cases of whiskey (a "case" is 9 litres) or six million bottles. The whole Irish whiskey industry currently shifts about six million cases a year.

WRITERS TEARS

Writers Tears Pot Still

Flashes of apple with hints of vanilla and honey over a distinctively Irish pot still base. Gently spiced with a burst of ginger and butterscotch with background notes of toasted oak. Long, elegant finish with subtle notes of milk chocolate and almonds.

Writers Tears Redhead

11

Fresh and lively with notes of tropical fruits, melon, red apples, boiled sweets, delicate spices and juicy sultanas.

Tullamore Dew[®]

IRISH WHISKEY

Tullamore D.E.W. is the original triple distilled, triple blend whiskey. Known the world over for its smooth and gentle complexity.

The distillery was founded by Michael Molloy in 1829. When Molloy died, Bernard Daly took charge of the business. General manager Daniel E. Williams' initials gave the whiskey its name, the man who decided that true craft could only come from the true character and insisted that his whiskey was made accordingly.

In 1953, the brand was sold to Powers and the Tullamore distillery was closed, with its production moved, along with that of Jameson, Powers, Paddy and the rest of the Irish Distillers products, to the New Midleton Distillery in County Cork. The brand was purchased in 1994 by the C&C Group plc.

In 2010 C&C sold Tullamore D.E.W. to William Grant & Sons in a €300 million deal. Most of the current product is made at the new Midleton Distillery. After the acquisition, Grant & Sons Ltd. announced that it planned to invest in a new state-of-the-art pot-still whiskey and malt whiskey distillery in Tullamore, which would bring whiskey production back to the town for the first time since the original distillery closed in 1954.

Tullamore Dew[®]

IRISH WHISKEY

Tullamore Dew 12 Year Old

9.5

All the whiskies in the blend are matured in old Bourbon and Oloroso sherry casks, slowly reaching their perfection. The sherry cask finish gives a sweet nuttiness to the taste. It also has pleasant spicy back notes. On the nose, medium intensity, malty, spicy, toasted wood and vanilla notes. Complex flavours with sweet nuttiness, faint notes of Christmas cake and a hint of lemon.

Tullamore Dew Cider Cask

Light bodied with a sweet, fruity vibrancy, that is soft and mellow with a lovely balance of oak, creamy malt and sweet, fresh apple notes. This is a rare and noble Irish whiskey that is the essence of Ireland, with notes of toasted oak tinged with cider sweetness to engage and delight the palate of true Irish whiskey lovers.

Tullamore Dew 14 Year Old Single Malt

GLENDALOUGH DISTILLERY

The Glendalough Distillery was set up by five friends from Wicklow and Dublin with a deep passion for reviving the heritage of craft distilling in Ireland. In the 18th & 19th centuries there were over 200 licensed distilleries in Ireland and along with countless unlicensed ones produced diverse styles of poitín, whiskey, gin and even absinthe. Until recently that dropped to a small handful. Glendalough Distillery is now part of a revival of this heritage. The idea behind Glendalough Distillery is to make innovative spirits while staying true to the tradition and heritage of our ancestors. Initially we started with the first ever spirit, poitín and since then have moved to whiskey and most recently the release of our seasonal, wild botanical gins.

Glendalough Double Barrel

Light and soft with delicate flavours of vanilla, citrus and stem ginger. A touch of sappy oak towards the finish. More Bourbon cask character than expected.

Glendalough 7 Year Old Mizunara

Founded in 2015 by Louise McGuane, J.J.Corry Irish Whiskey is Ireland's first modern Whiskey Bonder. Irish Whiskey Bonding is a traditional business model whereby Bonders, typically publicans and mercantile owners all across the Island would source casks and new make Whiskey Spirit which they would age and blend for local customers. Throughout the golden age of Irish Whiskey in the 19th century, most Irish Whiskey was blended by and sold to consumers by the Bonders. However, the practice died out in the 1930s with the near collapse of the Irish whiskey industry, after which all aspects of Irish Whiskey production & sales was undertaken by the distilleries. With the decline of bonding Ireland lost 100's of regional and local styles of whiskey and the art of blending fell out of focus.

J.J.Corry Irish Whiskey has resurrected this lost art of Irish Whiskey Bonding, under the brand of the renowned 19th century local Whiskey Bonder, J.J. Corry from Co. Clare.

The company sources newmake Whiskey Spirit from Irish distilleries and matures it in a purpose built bonded rackhouse on the McGuane Family farm in Cooraclare, Co. Clare, right along the Wild Atlantic Way. Whilst waiting for their spirit to come of age, they source & blend rare mature whiskey to create their own unique house style. Named after a Bicycle that J.J. Corry invented, in tribute to his entrepreneurial spirit, their first release, J.J. Corry 'The Gael', is classic style of blended Irish Whiskey, bursting with juicy fruit flavours and underlying complexity. It contains unusually mature whiskies for an Irish blend.
